THE BRITISH REFLEXOLOGY ASSOCIATION

2010 SPRING LECTURE DAY

'Solestry: The Art of Foot Reading' with Jane Sheehan

DATE Saturday 27th February 2010

VENUE Park Crescent Conference Centre, International Students House, NASH ROOM, 229 Gt Portland Street – Regent's Park, London W1W 5PN. Tel: 020 7631 8306 / www.pccc.co.uk

GUEST LECTURER

Jane Sheehan started out as a reflexologist. She was so amazed by the psychological impact that her treatments had on her patients and on herself that she decided to investigate further. She started to search the different emotional links that treating the feet may have on her patients. She discovered that her patients' feet had a lot to tell: for instance: if both the second toes do not touch the floor, the patient has probably lost their way in life or puffiness at the base of the fourth toe can indicate problems in relationships that they want to talk about but are not capable of expressing, etc.

Jane has written three books on the subject and has appeared on numerous occasions on television shows to discuss her favourite topic. She lectures all over the world.

THEME 'Solestry: The Art of Foot Reading': you will gain a deeper understanding of the way emotional aspects and personality are reflected on the feet. This knowledge can be used to interest potential clients into learning more about what their feet can tell them in terms of health or emotional issues. It can also be used as a tool for personal development. The aim of the day is to give techniques to allow the attendee to be able to read emotions and personality from the feet. The techniques given will allow them to extrapolate and arrive at an answer even when they are presented with something they haven't seen before.
